An item on the March 23, 2010 UC Regents’ agenda recommends amending Regental Policy 3, Section 7(D), paragraph I.

Currently 7(D) reads:

... total in-state fees charged will be at or below the total tuition and/or fees charged by comparable degree programs at other comparable public institutions.

By eliminating the word ‘public,’ the change would allow the UC Regents to include the most costly private school fees in the equation that sets fees for all the UC professional schools. The UC Regents are being asked to radically restructure the way professional fees are calculated.

Don’t force our professional fees to chase extreme values.
Leave the Regential Policy on Fees for Professional Students unchanged.
